Abstract: Based on a sample analysis of the concept of “ Silk Road Studies” this paper aims to outline the growth of Chinese Silk Road Studies in terms of discovery interface and establishment. In the new practice of reinterpreting the “ Belt and Road” a new momentum of multi-dimensional and parallel progress has been formed

Researches by Chinese scholars such as Huang Wenbi Ji Xianlin 's Silk Road studies in moving from conscious disciplinary awareness to autonomous knowledge production showing the historical logic of how China's Dunhuang studies has won the right to speak globally and establishing a new direction in building the academic discourse of the “ Belt and Road” . In other words we need to form a Chinese path to build the academic discourse of the “ Belt and Road” in the process of uncovering problems revising theories and enriching concepts and respond to the philosophical academic questions of the times by focusing on the core issues of Silk Road studies.

Key words: Silk Road Studies Sample for Conceptual Interpretation Cases of Academic Research Three Systems Academic Discourse on the “ Belt and Road”
